FUTURE TRADE OUTLOOK OF THE EXPORT MARKET OF DENMARK IN 2025

The export growth of Denmark would have a modest growth rate. The respective growth of the country in services has mainly promoted the growth rate due to the decline in areas such as the external risks imposed might slow down the respective growth rate due to the higher tariff in major markets.

Participation in the European Union credit guarantee schemes has diversified the market access, whereas the Danish exporters have continued to fund the opportunities in strategic markets like the United States.
